Objective
 Statutory objective of the organisation.
 What does the organisation seek to achieve?

The ECF is established to pursue the following objectives:

- to promote climate and energy policies pertaining to the promotion of greenhouse gas emission reduction; to promote and contribute to the international role of Europe in limiting climate change; to further and promote efficient and safe energy consumption; to sustainably develop clean technologies relating to energy consumption; and to minimize harmful emissions (including ozone gas emissions) in view of climate change;
- and to educate and raise awareness among the general public regarding the topics described in sub-paragraph "a" above and regarding any related topics, all in the broadest sense.

The ECF endeavours to realise its objectives by raising funds and accepting donations and, subsequently, by organising programmes and re-granting its financial means to achieve its objectives. The ECF is a non-profit organisation.

Outline of the policy plan

Please answer the questions below or provide an URL to the policy plan after the last question about the policy plan.

The online policy plan should at least provide answers to the questions about the policy plan asked here.

What are the institution's activities?
 When are which activities to be carried out? And how do the activities contribute to achieving the institution's objective?

To achieve the ECF's mission and vision of a green, democratic and peaceful Europe, it focuses on eight strategic portfolios, from fossil-free energy to international affairs. Across these focus areas, it grounds its strategies at the country level with 10 national and regionally focused teams. To help deepen and broaden public support for climate action, citizen engagement and cultural change underpin all of its work.

As a strategic grant-maker, the ECF funds a diverse range of over 700 partners, collaborating with them to identify and support interventions that get us closer to climate safety. As a network enabler, it fosters a stronger, more resilient network by helping partners build their capacities and create new connections. As a narrative shaper, it uses strategic communications to inform key decision-makers, foster discussion on climate, and strengthen broad-based support for climate action. As a thought leader, the ECF works with its partners to set the agenda and co-develop impactful strategies for climate action.

How does the organisation generate income or revenue?

The ECF aims to realise its objectives by raising funds and accepting donations, following careful evaluation, compliance due diligence checks, and application of the risk matrix; and subsequently by organising programmes and re-granting its financial means to achieve its objectives.

The ECF is not an endowed foundation and relies on fundraising to finance its activities.

The ECF seeks financial support from various charitable sources, including foundations, charity lotteries, and individual donors.

How and for what purposes are the revenues spent?
If your organisation holds capital, please fill in here where and how this capital is held (e.g. savings account, investments, etc.)

In 2024, the ECF spent its income on the following programme objectives: Fossil Free Energy; European and National Just Transitions; Europe in the World and International Affairs; Citizen Engagement and Cultural Change; Shifting the Financial System; Clean Transport Solutions; Europe's Industrial Transformation; Land, Food and Nature; Scoping; ReNew2030; Pooled fund on International Energy; Climate Finance Fund; and Forum New Economy. The ECF keeps its funds in cash and cash equivalents.

Remuneration policy

Remuneration policy
for the statutory board, for the members of the policy-making body and for staff (e.g. collective labour agreement or salary scheme)

Members of the Supervisory Board do not receive remuneration, nor do they have any other financial relationships with the organization.

The Remuneration Committee is responsible for annually reviewing the performance, remuneration, and terms and conditions of employment for members of the Management Board, subsequently making recommendations to the Supervisory Board on these matters.

The ECF's remuneration policy ensures that management and staff receive market-based salaries, on a monthly basis and in line with the ECF's compensation framework, enabling the organization to attract and retain highly capable human resources.
